

ZWTF

Zapping You Whenever Thoughts Flow

Volume 7, Issue 44

Where are the Circumcision people?

Those who don't know where the Circumcision people are assume that they don't exist.

Pastor Jory Brooks of the Association of the Covenant People

Hello Martin my name is J----.
Martin, I believe in many things you are saying (universal salvation, no free will, no Trinity) but something I am still not sold on is the two gospels you are presenting.

Martin, as far as I can tell you got this from AE Knoch. Martin if what you are saying is true where are the Israelite ministries? Show me an Israelite preacher, or an Israelite webpage.

Now over the years I have seen many Judaizers, many men saying Paul is a false prophet and that his books are not inspired/false (for example <https://www.jesus-wordonly.com/>) and that you need to keep the law. Some go so far as to say that the gospel of John is false. But I have yet to see one of these Judaizers teach the salvation of all or hell not being forever.

Does someone who believe in Peter's gospel need to believe in the salvation of all? Or hell not being forever? I read in your newsletter that they only have to believe that Jesus is the Messiah. Is there any disqualifying of one believing Peter's gospel?

What parts of the mosaic law do people who believe in Peter's gospel need to keep?

If you choose to answer me in one of your videos let me know the video.

Sincerely- J----.

* * *

Hi, J----. Good questions.

I didn't get the two gospel truth from A.E. Knoch. I got it from Galatians 2:7. In other words, I got it from Paul. Knoch wrote about it, yes, as have others over the last 2,000 years. I got it from Paul; Paul got it from Christ.

It doesn't matter where the Israelite ministries are, does it? I don't see how it even matters if there are any. What difference would it make to the truth? This is not about so-called ministries, it is about individuals. Where are the body of Christ ministries? Who cares? You are looking for human organization where human organization may not exist. No, but rather God chooses one person here, and one person there. Faith is a matter for individuals, not "ministries."

Having said that, here is a link to a Circumcision ministry:

<http://www.destinypublishers.com/store/>

And here is another one:

<http://www.kingdomlight.org/NewsletterFiles/prinzing/RayPrinzingAutobio-1.htm>

And here is another one:

<http://www.ariseministry.com/content/othersites/paulmainpage.htm>

And here is another one:

<https://www.godfire.net/eby/>

And here is another one:

<https://www.associationcovenantpeople.org/2010/02/the-oldest-anglo-israel-church-celebrates-75-years/>

No, Peter's gospel does not include an insistence that one believe in the salvation of all. And neither does it have anything to do with so-called "hell" being so-called "forever."

What disqualifies one from believing Peter's gospel? 1) not recognizing Jesus as Messiah, 2) not producing fruit worthy of repentance, 3) not "overcoming."

Believers in Peter's gospel don't need to do any of the Mosaic law right now. There is no temple. They are waiting for the priesthood to be officially transferred from the Aaronic priesthood to the Melchizedek priesthood. They are in limbo right now. I did not get this from A.E. Knoch; I got it from the book of Hebrews, which I am able to read for myself. The "marching orders" of the Circumcision remnant are found in the book of Hebrews. Read the book of Hebrews, and you will discover what Circumcision people are supposed to be doing today.

Remember, the Circumcision calling is not for natural Israelites only, but also for proselytes of Israel who are among the nations. These are scattered all over the Earth. Because you don't know about them doesn't mean that they don't exist. I am aware of both gospels being preached, and I have been aware of it for thirty-five years. Do you see the photo of Jory Brooks on the front page of this newsletter? I taught in his church three times in 1994. In fact, I got thrown out for teaching justification by faith. I have seen these ministries firsthand.

Believe God, not your own lack of vision. There is currently a Circumcision remnant according to the choice of grace (Romans 11:5). Period. It doesn't matter whether you or I or anyone else knows anything about it or them.

Believe God, though every man be a liar.

I hope this helps.

Sincerely,

Martin Zender